[2] Entries Capped at 2,000. As for the 2004-2011 Competitions, entries for the 2012 Competition will again close after the Competition receives the first 2,000 entries. The Competition's physical fabric is ideal and very comfortable for a maximum of thirteen judges. That, plus the cost of international airfares and the overall cost of board and accommodation for the Judges decree that we restrict the size of our Judging Panel to 13 Judges. With the available judging time a given, entries must be restricted to a manageable number to preserve the accuracy and integrity of the Competition's results. It does, however, mean late entrants are likely to miss the cut. Enter early.

[3] Bottle Medallions. The Competition's official 2012 Competition Bottle Medallions, which carry the Competition's trademarked logo, are a well recognised, well regarded sales aid and indicator of quality wine. These are able to be purchased by Award winners through the Competition either for hand or machine application. Hand application are usually in stock and available for immediate delivery. For machine application, allow two weeks for printing and delivery. The Competition's official, trademarked Bottle Medallions are officially recognised by European Union countries in particular and in most other Export markets. Display your Awards on your bottles with pride.

[4] File a Copy. We strongly suggest you print and file a copy of these Notes and Conditions of Entry for your own further reference; file with a copy of your Entry Form. For On-Line entrants a copy of your Entry Form will be automatically emailed back to you.   - batch bottled wines from finished blends intended for staggered bottling. Awards won by these wines may also apply to subsequent bottlings of that finished blend, provided all bottlings show a clear line of identification to the samples submitted for judging from that finished blend.
  - Barrel samples are not eligible for entry.
17. Minimum Production Requirements to Enter the Competition.
No minimum production requirements apply to the 2012 Sydney International Wine Competition.
18. Trophies, Awards & Recognition of the Competition's Highest Pointed Wines.
Any wine eligible for entry into the Competition is eligible to win the Competition's Blue-Gold or Highly Commended recognition, and most of the Competition's Trophies. (Some trophies are, for example, geographically or varietally specific.) In addition, the Competition's TOP 100™ Award is restricted to the approximately 5% highest pointed wines of each Style Category. (TOP 100™ Award winners are always also Blue-Gold Award winners.)
19. Promotions - Internet Promotions.
The Competition's Blue-Gold and Highly Commended Award Winning Wines agree to pay the Competition an Internet Promotions Fee of $AUD220.00, which includes 10% GST, for each of their Award winners within fourteen days from date of the Competition's Internet Promotions Tax Invoice. This entitles each Award Winning Wine (AWW) to its own page on the Competition's website, www.top100wines.com. Several of the Competition's judges will offer their independent comments on each AWW. The website will also offer hyperlinks from the AWW's page to the entrant's own nominated website and email addresses. Entrants of AWWs will supply a digital image, as prescribed, of the AWW's front label and information about their AWW as per the Competition's Questionnaire, within 14 days of the Competition's request for same. This information is required for the Competition's promotional Internet Domain. It is essential that entrants of Award winners comply with the prescribed time requirement. Failure to comply with this Condition may result in disqualification.

  - Special Wines. Trophy winners and the Entrants of the three highest pointed TOP 100/Blue-Gold Award Winning Wines in each of the Competition's thirteen Style Categories agree to supply the Competition, free of charge (foc), including foc delivery into the Competition's storage, an additional 18 litres of PTS for promotional purposes.
  - Supply and Delivery. Entrants of AWW agree their PTS will be delivered into the Competition's storage no later than Friday 3 February 2012. AWW entrants will receive at least four weeks notice of this requirement.
  - Retention of Required Stock. Provisional AWW entrants agree to be responsible for retaining the required stock and for the on-time delivery-into-store requirements of their PTS.
  - Labels. PTS bottles must be dressed with labels which show the identical name under which the wine was entered and under which the wine has been/will be made available for retail purchase.
  - Title. Title to PTS will vest with the Competition upon delivery of the undamaged PTS into SIWC storage.
22. Inspection - Verification.
To ensure that the provisional AWW is the same wine available for purchase by consumers, the Entrant agrees that the Competition, via its properly credentialed and authorised agent, may inspect stock and sales records of wines bearing the same name details as the entered AWW wine and the Entrant agrees to facilitate such inspection at a mutually convenient time within fourteen days of the despatch date of the Competition's written request for same.
23. Analysis of Stock.
On any such inspection as in Condition 22, the Entrant agrees to allow the Competition's agent to remove a bottle of the AWW entered wine's stock for analysis by the Australian Wine Research Institute (AWRI) and comparison with the analysis of any one of the judging samples supplied by the entrant for judging. If the judging sample and the sample from the Entrant's stock of wine of the same name are considered by AWRI not to be the same wine, the entry will be disqualified, any Award will be withdrawn and, in such circumstances, the Competition reserves the right to pursue further remedies.
24. Appeal.
At no cost to the Competition, the Entrant may appeal any such decision to a commonly agreed independent arbitration and the outcome of such arbitration shall be adhered to by both parties.
25. Name Change.
Any entry that has received an Award from the Competition must be marketed under the same name that was used to enter the wine into the Competition. If a name change is intended, the Competition requires completion of a prescribed declaration from the entrant guaranteeing that the Award Winning Wine submitted for judging and any wine bearing a different name is in every respect the same wine, apart from the name.

26. Trade Mark & Copyright.
The name Sydney International Wine Competition and its LOGO™, are the trademarked legal property of the Competition and may not be reproduced nor used in combination by any other party without the Competition's written consent. All content on the Competition's website and other publications is subject to copyright and may only be reproduced and/or circulated with the Competition's written approval.

28. Disqualification & Liability
